These matters are inherently uncertain, and management’s view of these matters may change in the future.

The Company cannot utilize the cash held in trust and customer deposits outside the scope of the client contracts.

Off balance sheet arrangements

The Company does not have any off balance sheet arrangements.

Risk factors

The fair value of cash, subscription receipt funds, trade receivables, loan receivable, due from related parties, accounts payable and accrued liabilities, and due from related party approximate their carrying values due to the relatively short-term nature of these financial instruments. The carrying value of the loan payable approximates its fair value as the interest rates are consistent with the current rates offered to the Company for loans with similar terms.

The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company's overall risk management program focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimize potential adverse effects on the financial performance of the Company.

The Company uses various methods to measure different types of risk to which it is exposed. These methods include sensitivity analysis in the case of interest rate and other price risks.

Market risk

(i) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company does not have any financial instrument subject to floating interest rates; therefore, interest rate risk is considered low.

(ii) Currency risk

Currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. As at June 30, 2021, the Company had the following balances denominated in US dollars: Cash of $616,294 (December 31, 2020 - $5,833) and accounts payable and accrued liabilities of $61,721 (December 31, 2020 - $113,263). As at June 30, 2021, a 10% depreciation or appreciation of the U.S. dollar against the Canadian dollar would result in an approximate $67,801 increase or decrease, respectively, in net loss and comprehensive loss.

For the six months ended June 30, 2021 and 2020

(iii) Other price risk

Other price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices (other than those arising from interest rate risk or currency risk), whether those changes are caused by factors specific to the individual financial instrument or its issuer, or factors affecting all similar financial instruments traded in the market. The Company is not exposed to other price risk.

Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in financial loss to the Company. The Company has adopted a policy of dealing with credit-worthy counterparties. The Company's exposure and credit ratings of counterparties is continuously monitored.

The Company applies the simplified approach to provide for expected credit losses as prescribed by IFRS 9, which permits the use of the lifetime expected loss provision for all trade receivables and contract assets. The expected credit loss provision is based on the Company's historical collections and loss experience and incorporates forward-looking factors, where appropriate.

All the Company's cash balances are held with a major Canadian financial institution and thus the exposure to credit risk is considered insignificant. Management actively monitors the Company's exposure to credit risk under its financial instruments, including with respect to trade receivables.

As at quarter-end, the company had an outstanding short-term, non-interest-bearing loan payable of $2,000,000. The loan was evaluated by management and not deemed necessary, and hence was paid back in full post quarter end (see subsequent events).

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will not be able to meet its obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Company has a planning and budgeting process in place by which it anticipates and determines the funds required to support its normal operating requirements. The Company coordinates this planning and budgeting process with its financing activities through its capital management process.

The Company's approach to managing liquidity risk is to ensure that it will have sufficient funds to meet liabilities as they come due and to execute on its business plan. The Company manages liquidity risk by maintaining adequate cash reserves and loan facilities and by continuously monitoring forecast and actual cash flows. At June 30, 2021, the Company had a cash balance of $3,913,317 (December 31, 2020 - $285,853)

As at June 30, 2021, the Company had positive working capital of $1,849,998 (December 31, 2020 –positive working capital of $295,970). As at June 30, 2021, the Company has access to a line of credit of $60,000.

- a) Ensuring sufficient liquidity is available to support its financial obligations and to execute its operating strategic plans;

- c) Minimizing its cost of capital and considering current and future industry, market and economic risks and conditions; and
